BOOKWORMS UNITE! NEW AMBASSADORS, COOL COMPETITIONS & A BRILLIANT BOOK FAIR AHEAD!

SAY HELLO TO OUR NEW READING AMBASSADORS

- We have now recruited our KS2 reading ambassadors. These children are ready to help promote a love of reading among their classmates and across the school. They have already shown what lovely reading role models they are, encouraging others to discover the joy of books and stories. They also have the hard job of helping to keep the library tidy and organised.

UPCOMING EVENTS

Our next book fair is booked to coincide with the next parents evening, which will take place:

- Monday 10th November 3:30pm-5:15pm (main reception)
- Tuesday 10th November 3:30pm-5:15pm (main reception)
- Wednesday 11th November 8:10am-8:35am (hall)

October half term reading competition

This Halloween we are running an 'extreme reading' competition. Your task is to read your favourite book in the most 'extreme' place. Think about whether you are going on any day trips or visiting any family members. If not, I am sure there are random places around your home that would be an interesting reading spot!

Please ask a grown up to take a picture of you. Pictures can then be printed ready for you to bring in to school on Tuesday 4th November. Alternatively, grown ups can e-mail the picture to whittfieldv@nmat.org.uk. We will then add these amazing pictures to our library.

Five children will then be picked to receive a £5 voucher to spend at our upcoming book fair.
